Thanks from Bellevue

Dear UUMC Members,
We at Bellevue were astounded to receive your immense check ($2,500) for the Delaware weekend feeding program (Blessings in a Backpack).

Your generosity overwhelmed us! You have allowed us to feed 350 students this coming school year.

The students in the program have said that they feel cared for by the community and that the food helps their families.

Your reputation for caring for the unfortunate is well deserved.

Thank you again,
Jeanie Brown

Kids get rescued by Jesus in VBS '18

August is here, and before summer ends, it's time to start thinking seriously about some fun activities: Vacation Bible School and the Syracuse United Methodist Churches' annual picnic.

VBS, for children ages 4-12, will be 6 to 8 p.m. for five evenings, Aug. 19-23.

After "Beach Party" two years ago, last year we were in the woods with "Camp EDGE." This year we return to the ocean with "Shipwrecked: Rescued by Jesus."

The curriculum features creature "buddies," including a leopard, stingray, toucan, seahorse, sloth and gecko.

This experience helps anchor kids in the truth that Jesus carries them through every storm in life. They'll learn to hold onto God's promises when they are lonely, they worry, they struggle, do wrong, and feel powerless.

VBS Director Morgan Mastronardi is seeking help. If you can volunteer, donate snacks like granola bars, mini-muffins or Goldfish crackers or loan props like palm trees, a globe, hammock, oar or jungle stuffed animals, please contact her at morgan.r.mastronardi@gmail.com.

The Syracuse UMC picnic begins at 5:30 p.m. Aug. 15 at St. Paul's UMC, 2200 Valley Drive. To participate in UUMC's fruit salad contribution, put a fruit in the kitchen off The Gathering Room by Aug. 12. For more information or to volunteer for setup or cleanup, contact Gail Tyn-dall at gtyndall001@twcny.rr.com.

Financial report: OK for now, but deficit looms

Thank you all for your contributions and for being faithful to your pledges.

On a year to date basis we are able to meet our operating expenses with a small overall variance of $933 over budget.

Because we recognize income and expenses on a cash basis, the small positive variance is likely due to the timing of income receipts and expense payments.

Although at midyear we appear to be in good shape, it is important to remember the current 2018 budget is made possible through the use of one-time funding sources to cover a projected a deficit (loss) of $156,131. That deficit is expected to materialize by the end of the year absent any additional sources of income or reduction in expenses.

Without additional income sources or major reductions in expenses we will not be able to sustain our ongoing operations in ministry. Please continue to be prayerful about our church and our budget.

What is church? Let go and Holy Spirit will enter in, shake things up

Alicia Wood

Greetings!

I find it interesting how, in life, things run parallel. I just arrived back in Syracuse after my two-week travel seminar to Manchester, England.

While I was gone, my indoor cat escaped and was lost for five days. These two things may seem quite different, but as I spent time reflecting today they have something in common.

The questions we were asked to keep in the forefront of our minds as we traveled all over England to a new church each day was “What is church?”

We visited four churches that have coffee houses attached to the building so that they are able to connect with the community at large throughout the week.

The goal is to share God’s love so that more folks come to know Jesus and eventually attend worship and outreach.

We visited five churches, including Westminster Abbey, which continue to do worship and outreach in a more traditional way (if we take away the “tourist” part of their presence).

These churches have mostly traditional space and worship with traditional liturgy.

We also traveled to four churches in rural settings that worship only 6 to 24 times a year. They are currently discerning how to reach the outside community including the vacationers.

You can imagine I was a mess while my cat was missing. From thousands of miles away I was not able to go look for him myself. I was not able to put up LOST posters. It was very hard.

Thanks be to God, I had many people who did help me! They walked the streets, hung posters and they talked with my neighbors. Of course, I had to deal with the fact that it was not me out trying to find the cat and they may not have done it the way I would have done it. I try not to be controlling, but sometimes this comes out in me.

From thousands of miles, I had to pray and trust the search was going well even though I was not there.

When we ask the question, “What is church?” do we need to loosen our hold or control of what church has been to each of us?

Is it possible that people may hear the Gospel message through our outreach or in conversation at a coffee house with a church volunteer?

In the rural churches in the Peak District of England the villagers had always been frustrated with all the tourists. Recently, the church has realized that tourists may even need a sanctuary.

Now the churches have opened up their doors every day of the week for tourists to come to pray, talk or be prayed with.

Do the tourists count as a part of the church? Do the people who come to the coffee house and ask questions about Jesus count as a part of the church?

I heard in several of the churches that they have shifted their way of thinking about church.

The congregation now says church is “belong, believe, become.” In other words, people need to feel they belong. Then, through relationship people come to believe in Jesus Christ. Finally, people become a disciple through faith, study of Scripture, worship, sharing their faith and outreach.

As we move forward as a church, let’s continue to ask, “What is church?” I feel as we learn to let go of some of the control the Holy Spirit will enter in and surprise us!

When I came home my cat was doing well. He is still not back to himself physically, but he is going to be just fine.

I believe the same is true of our church. We can be assured that as we let go of some of the control the Holy Spirit will be better able to get in and shake things up in a good and new way, and the church will be just fine.

Peace,

— Pastor Alicia

Church & Society teach-ins

Teach-ins are planned for Sept. 12 on “Opioids & Other Addictive Drugs” and Oct. 10 on “Rule of Law: An Endangered Species?”

Kathleen Dermady, DNP, and Barry Weiss, Onondaga County District Attor-

ney’s Office — both members of the Onondaga County Drug Task Force — will discuss the field of addictive drugs and their consequences to society. They will help us understand this epidemic.

Professors Thomas Keck and David

Driesen, Syracuse University legal scholars, will explore the history, definition, worldview, importance and trends in The Rule of Law in October.

The teach-ins begin at 7 p.m. Snacks are available at 6:30.

*“Just a castaway
An island lost at sea
Another lonely day
With no one here
but me
More loneliness
Than any man could bear
Rescue me before I*

*fall into despair
I'll send an SOS to the world
I'll send an SOS to the world
I hope someone gets my Message in a bottle*

*A year has passed since I wrote
my note
But I should have known this right from the start
Love can mend your heart
But love can break your heart*

*Walked out this morning
Don't believe what I saw
A hundred billion bottles
Washed up on the shore
Seems I'm not alone at being alone
A hundred billion castaways
Looking for a home”*

Some of you might recognize this 1979 released song, “Message in a Bottle,” written by Gordon Sumner AKA “Sting” of the band The Police. These familiar lyrics washed over me as I stood in a crowd of about 70 people on a recent weekend listening to Al-amin Muhammad, the director of We Rise Above the Streets, a three-year-old program focusing efforts on recovery outreach.

Katie and Joyce Flynn, with grandson in tow, my family and I arranged to meet with Al-amin and work alongside him with his volunteers and staff and understand the details and needs of his mission.

Al-amin is a very gentle, compelling man with a deep personal understanding of lonesomeness, prison, homelessness, poverty and being hungry.

After Al-amin’s incarceration he was homeless, lonely and hungry for 10 years of his life. On his darkest day he chose to change his life. With the support of his case manager he was able to find his life work and life purpose.

Every Saturday morning volunteers arrive to a small office to build 200+ brown bag lunches. Work starts promptly at 10 a.m. By 10:45 volunteers’ cars are filled with lunches, other food donations, clothing and personal hygiene items.

After a brief introductory speech by Al-amin inclusive of his story, his mission, a description of the folk who partake, his thoughts on how we should engage with folk and the location of the distribution site, off we go.

By 11:15 a.m. a food line has taken shape and a table is all laid out with hot foods, the bagged lunches, clothing and personals. Al-amin rallies all, welcomes folk to gather food and ignites the volunteers in his mantra, “If We Eat, They Eat!!”

We had a great morning, recognized many folk who received food, met interesting peer volunteers and were very impressed with Al-amin’s SOS efforts.

Katie and I will move ahead with UUMC’s Outreach Team in inviting Al-amin to use UUMC’s space for his many volunteers and the building of the lunches.

We feel that Al-amin’s program successfully engages new energy with consumers and volunteers who have been unreachable with our past Outreach efforts at UUMC. Additional opportunities of food sharing and alliances with CNY’s Islamic Society sweeten the offering.

In the efforts of running UUMC’s varied Outreach programs, I forgot that hunger and poverty often walk hand in hand with loneliness. Al-amin and Sting reminded me of this.

I am grateful for this reminder. I will be better at my job because of this. Maybe the hundred billion castaways will feel UUMC also hears their SOS message.
