Feeding God's People: Body, Mind, and Spirit

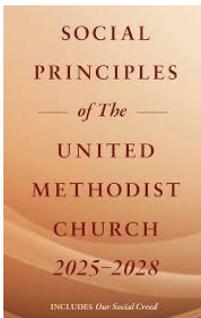

Join us for a 12-week study exploring women of the Bible—Eve, Sarah, Hagar, Miriam, Cozbi, and more—through a womanist lens that honors their voices and struggles. Using sanctified imagination and ancient traditions, we'll discover how their stories speak to today's call for justice, dignity, and faith.

Sundays @ 9:15 a.m. in the Pastor's Study – Starting September 28 – Facilitated by Pastor Aaron

Join us for a 6-week study on the history of the UMC in the United States and how anti-Black racism has impacted its mission, witness, and trust. Together, we'll reflect and engage in honest dialogue—especially as white Christians—about racism in the church and society, and explore faithful steps toward justice and reconciliation.

Sundays @ 5:30 p.m. in Second Floor Gathering Room – Starting October 5 – Facilitated by Tom Boll

Join us for a 7-week study exploring our denomination's history, structure, and connectional nature, followed by an in-depth look at the Social Principles. Together, we'll discuss the church's guidance on over 50 social, economic, and political issues, including global warming, poverty, gender equality, and war.

Tuesdays @ 7:00 p.m. at Barb and Nelson's – Starting October 7 – Facilitated by Barbara Fought
